DEDICATION

First, let me give honor to my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ who made it possible for me to write this book.

IN MEMORY OF

I dedicate this book in loving memory of my Grandparents, Jack and Helen Daniels for their genuine love.

SPECIAL THANKS

I dedicate this book to my Mother, Louise Daniels, for never giving up on my future; my Mother in Law, Valeria Ann Megginson, for her continuous love that she shares with me and my God Parents, Matthew and Sharon Carr for allowing me to be their Angel.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book could not have been written if God had not sent my husband David to deliver the message that God heard my cry for help, for his spiritual friendship, love and his never ending support.

To my wonderful children JewMonte and Dionn Elise for believing that their Mother is Super Woman. Thanks for allowing me to be your first hero...Mommy loves you all very much!

Special thanks to my sisters in Christ, Evangelist Latina Hubbard and Trina Kaye Palms thanks for allowing me to be a part of your lives.

Thanks to all of you for your encouragement and support, I will forever be grateful.

INTRODUCTION

Hi, I too was looking for peace. Looking in all directions until I went dark...I didn't have the frame of mind to buy self help books, but I always kept my bible and its words close. I have provided you with a self help book along with God's words from the King James Bible and take action steps and prayers that I used to help me along my spiritual healing journey.

It's always darkest before the dawn... situations can seem to become progressively worse and things look darker and darker and just as you reach your lowest point, the dawn arrives and in the light of day things don't look so bad.

God will never leave you nor forsake you, but people will...God's purpose for your life is bigger than any person, thing or situation. God will make you ruler over many things if you will accept and follow his will for your life.

IT'S TIME

Scripture: He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds. (Psalms 147:3 KJV)

Several years ago I found myself unhappy in the midst of a long-term relationship. I was stressed, confused, depressed and low on energy. I often wondered “why me?”

At the time I didn't realize that my spiritual life with God was just a routine. While I prayed, attended church regularly, tithed, fellowshiped with other Christian believers and even witnessed to lost souls my life was lacking spiritual growth. I'm not finished; I even went to work each day, dropped my son off at school and lived as normal as possible until I realized I was in an unhealthy state of physical and psychological living. All I wanted was to really feel happy without having to pretend that everything in my life was healthy and normal. Happiness and peace are some things you “just don't fake until you make it.”

There's a time in your life when you have to get up and dust yourself off and make things right for your well being. By no means did I do this right away. I began to sincerely pray and ask the Lord for strength and guidance on how I could make things better for my present and future, but most of all was how to forgive the past.

I remember one day when I was alone a feeling of peace came over me. To this day, I truly believe it was my Heavenly Father reassuring me that if I turn my mess over to him that he would clean it up because he is a forgiving God and he loves me so much. I'm so glad God's love never fails us in spite of our chosen or forced situations we face daily!

Now this cleanup process did not happen overnight and wipe out all of my troubles at once. I've learned that everything truly happens for a reason “And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose.” (Romans 8:28 KJV)

During the clean up process people and things that I thought were important to me or that I thought I couldn't live without were no longer an important existing factor in my life. Negative energy from people, places or things was no longer received by me as a healthy contribution towards my present and future spiritual healing journey. I respectively stopped going to them, around them, sharing my thoughts and feelings with them.

Please take the time to meditate on what you have read and allow the holy spirit to speak to you on what direction you should take in life after reading this chapter.

Take action: What negative energy do you need to remove from your life?

Prayer: Our Father in heaven I pray that any ungodly spirits and energy that are in my life and presence powers are null and void and they are sent back into to the pit of hell and shall never return back to me or my presence again. In the name of Jesus, I pray, Amen.

“Incorporating positive energy into my life is the best thing that ever happened to me.” ~Sharon D. Megginson

REUNITE

Scripture: And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation. (2 Corinthians 5:18 KJV)

Have you ever felt like everything else in life was getting first priority except your spiritual goals? My goals at the time were to please others or a situation. Now please don't get me wrong, these things were not done intentionally to disrespect what God had planned for me, but free will is what happened in my life until it consumed my daily living habits in a negative way. Let me tell you the enemy's goals are to have you stressed, confused and depressed just to name a few.

It was time to reconcile with God because he never left me; I was the one who chose to live the life I was living without seeking to be led by the Holy Spirit. "Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (2 Corinthians 5:20 KJV). I immediately asked God to forgive me and repented of my sins. Living for God daily allows you to enjoy one of his many benefits of being led by the Holy Spirit. I pray daily for God to lead, guide and protect me throughout the day and night!

I know we are very busy in the mornings getting ready for our day or maybe even getting our families off to their day, but I reassure you putting God first in the morning is a great way to start your day.

Last but not least after a long day, I found time to spend with God thanking him for the opportunities that I had on the day or even the unfortunate circumstances that I encountered because through it all I know he has it all under control in due time. That's one thing about God; his timing is accurate for all of his children's situations and circumstances.

God wants us to spend time in silent one on one communication with him. He is always available to hear each of our needs.

Take action: Make time throughout your day to spend time praying and meditating on God's word.

Prayer: Our Father in heaven, please release your spirit of reconciliation over my life and throughout my generation. Lord I thank you for the many blessings you have bestowed upon me and most of all I thank you in advance for the future blessings to come. In the name of Jesus, I pray, Amen

“Restoring my personal relationship with God has been the happiest moments of my life. I wouldn't have it any other way.” ~Sharon D. Megginson

LET THERE BE DARKNESS

Scripture: The Lord is my strength and song, and is become my salvation. (Psalms 118:14 KJV)

During the time I was trying to rebuild my life spiritually, mentally and physically my son was a toddler and we shared a room with my Mother in her two bedroom home. All my son and I had was our black trash bags filled with clothes, toys and each other.

I took one step towards positive in my life and God did the rest. Although I left behind, let go and decided I didn't really need the things I once had, I knew the best thing for my future was to close the door on the past filled with negative energy. The things that once were important to me, I took partial credit for those blessings, but I no longer take credit for all that I have now. I truly see blessings from God's hands in everything I do, achieve and own. So I was convicted to go dark. Now you're thinking what is she talking about? Keep reading.

Going dark means you separate yourself from negative energy. For example, harmful people, environments, bad habits, etc. Instead meditate on God's word and promises daily, speak encouraging words into your life, praise God in all situations, and last but not least keeping the faith that God is going to see you through. Don't despair, things will get better. After all God's timing is accurate.

I went dark a couple of years ago. The way I chose to go dark was that I isolated myself from all negative energy, coworkers, friends and family as if I no longer existed on this earth anymore. They were not allowed to have my home address, phone numbers, my whereabouts or even what church I attended. I made sure my mother knew how to contact me. It is good to have at least one supportive person to know your whereabouts if possible.

For me that meant no shopping dates with others, personal phone calls, social gatherings and negative gossiping. People were asking when they saw me “why don’t you hang out with us anymore, where have you been or where do you live?” I would just politely answer them with a smile. It was if I fell off the face of the earth. I’m sure you get the point by now. After all, my decision and choices were making things better for me in a positive way.

Take action: What ungodly habits, people, places and things do you need to separate yourself from so you can hear from God regarding his plans for your life?

Prayer: Our Father in heaven, I pray that the past hurt and shame no longer has authority over my life. God please shut any doors that are not in your plans for me and lead me to the doors that you have opened for me. In the name of Jesus, I pray, Amen.

“I am proud to say that I separated myself from my past negative surroundings and pressed towards my positive future with God as my pilot.” ~Sharon D. Megginson

BREATHE IN AND BREATHE OUT

Scripture: In my distress I called upon the Lord, and cried to my God: and he did hear my voice out of his temple, and my cry did enter into his ears. (2 Samuel 22: 7 KJV)

This journey was getting a little rough. At times I would get overwhelmed with the silence and the isolation, but God kept me. It was then that I came to realize that my healing was in the silence. I became acquainted with myself and I was now my own friend. I was still meditating on God's word that was continuing to strengthen me when I felt lonely, but glory be to God I was not alone!

I came to a point when there was just no room in my circle for anyone else except for God and my son. Did people in my past circle understand why I was isolating myself from negative energy? No! They didn't because God had elevated me to another level of happiness, peace and success. I'll be honest; sometimes I felt like throwing in the towel on my prayers that I had been waiting on so patiently. I learned that breakthrough blessings begin to manifest near the end of your situation and at the start of your beginning. God speaks to us during quiet places in our lives because he knows we are now ready to hear his still voice and worthy to receive all of his blessings that he has in store for his followers. Sometimes we are our own enemy and a hindrance to our blessings.

Every time you feel as if you're at the end of the road with your prayers and meditations just hold on a little while longer, "breathe in and breathe out" because the answers to your prayers may be in the silence.

Now be aware everything we pray for and how we want it is not how God always delivers an answer to our prayer requests. You have to look for your blessings in all things and count it all joy!

When you breathe in, you inhale God's reassurance that he will release your answered prayers into the atmosphere.

Take action: Write a prayer letter to God.

Prayer: God this day forward your agenda is my agenda. Dear Lord, you know my needs and I am leaving my life in your hands. In Jesus name, I pray. Amen.

THANK YOU

Scripture: And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise. (Luke 6:31 KJV)

During my trials and tribulations, I still smiled and showed compassion to others during my weakest moments. I couldn't even imagine purposely making someone feel physically, emotionally, or mentally uncomfortable. After all, I had experienced painful attacks of gossip, physical abuse and abandonment from some family members, friends and co-workers because I decided to live a negative free lifestyle. My daily goal was to have a Godly lifestyle, smile and always say "Thank You." Thank You was a must even if you were not polite to me. My goal was be kind and respectful to others and in return God would bless me in the end!

I no longer allowed people or material things to validate my existence. God is my provider and he will never leave me nor forsake me. God acknowledges all of his obedient children with daily blessings, some we are aware of some we are not. Having a Godly behavior during your trials and tribulations binds the enemy and sends him fleeing. I'm not saying that you won't ever be tempted by the enemy because you will, but living a Godly lifestyle won't make it easy for the enemy to win. I know you are wondering what a Godly lifestyle is. A Godly lifestyle is living a Christ like life, asking yourself in all situations what would Jesus do or say.

Take action: Think of simple ways you can spread kindness in your daily activities and living. Practice the simple ways you have chosen daily and add to them often.

Prayer: Our Father in heaven please release the spirit of kindness into my life, show me what you want of me Lord and help me be a blessing to those deserving around me. I give all the Glory to you Lord. In the name of Jesus, Amen.

READY, SET, LOVE AGAIN

Scripture: Whoso findeth a wife findeth a good thing, and obtaineth favour of the Lord. (Proverbs 18:22 KJV)

This is the part that I know some of my readers have been waiting for. God gives us all free will to do whatever we like and when we ask him for forgiveness in our decision that did not go as we planned, he will forgive you and help you get back on track without any hesitation. God is always available to you before, during and even after you go through your storm and I know for a fact that he will keep you! God was there for me during my darkest hour and even today!

In my previous relationship, I thought love was putting my happiness last and theirs first, but not knowing at the time that it should have been the other way around. If I'm not happy how in the world could I be in a healthy relationship? Not intentionally, I was neglecting myself spiritually, physically, mentally and emotionally.

I began to wonder would I ever learn how to correctly love again? First of all, you won't be able to ever love anyone productively until you first love yourself. Get to know what you like. In other words date yourself first. In my quiet time I had the opportunity to just be me although my roles as a mother, employee, student and business woman were still there. I had to make time to date myself. I would often ask myself "Sharon what do you want in life, what are your likes and dislikes, what are your goals for the present and future?"

Time after time, I would sit and think about how I could go about getting what's for me in life respectful and with dignity. Let me tell you this was a soul seeking task for me that I had to do alone. Day one goes by and months go by, I was alone dealing with inner self, but I was not lonely. God was there and little by little the right people crossed my path that had my future in their best interest and the ones who didn't I was able to see and feel their ungodly ways and remove them from my presence quickly.

I got a chance to learn about myself, to love myself and trust in the Lord to be my sole provider. It took time to get in alignment with God through prayer, fasting, reading my bible, spending quiet times with God listening and feeling for his directions and meditating on his word. I had to be honest with myself; after all I was dating me. Who wants to date a liar? So in others words be honest with yourself because your happiness and future depend on it.

I stepped out of the physical realm of trying to feel love and step into the spiritual realm of loving unconditionally. Biblical love is selfless and unconditional, whereas the world's love is characterized by selfishness.

While I was spending quality time with myself little did I know God was molding my future with my present husband? He sent me a man that is after the same thing I am, God's heart. See once we stop going by our own agenda and start following God's agenda, then will he shine the light in our heart on what's for us or not for us through spiritual discernment.

I stopped looking for love in all the wrong people, places and things and started looking for love within myself. Once again we are sometimes our own enemy! Move over and let God do what he has planned for you.

Start loving yourself first and watch things that you have been praying for start to change around you! It all starts with you evaluating how you want your happiness to succeed.

Keep yourself and home clutter free, this will help you feel and think clearer. Be prayerful for what God has for you and not what you think you should have. “In other words stop looking for your husband or wife and started praying that you will be ready to receive your husband or wife when God sends them your way!”

Take Action: Keep an ongoing Journal about your needs, wants, values and goals. For example, where do you see yourself in 6 months, 1 year and 5 years? Talk positive about yourself. Give yourself lots of hugs and kisses to reassure yourself that with God all things are possible.

Prayer: God I know I’m not alone because your word said that you will never leave me nor forsaken me. I pray for the right relationship with you Lord, myself and others. In the name of Jesus, I pray, Amen.

LOYAL

Scripture: He that followeth after righteousness and mercy findeth life, righteousness and honour. (Proverbs 21:21 KJV)

Self

Being loyal to self is a very healthy decision spiritually, physically and mentally towards a positive life. In my daily journey I often sought for people and things with my same beliefs and values, such as trustworthiness, honesty, respectfulness and faithfulness. I'm determined to stay true to myself and beliefs when I'm faced with a situation that I am not in agreement with. At times, I felt like I let my family and friends down when they asked me to do something that was not in my beliefs, but I started to realize, that I would be the one at the end of the day dealing with a shaken up spirit of wrongness if I gave in to please them. After all, they should not be asking me to do something that was not healthy for either one of us.

My daily goal is to be free of pleasing others in regards to their feelings or ideas and start pleasing my spirit in which the Holy Spirit lives. Once and for all I was determined to stand up for myself and what I believe in! If you don't agree with my beliefs and values you are not allowed in my circle.

God

Scripture: For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. (John 3:16 KJV)

In the beginning of my going dark to renew my light, I had to evaluate my life. One of the questions I asked myself was what am I allowing to interfere with my devotion time with God? So, I reviewed my daily schedule and noticed that God was only receiving my time when I wanted something or during my bedtime prayer. I saw things in my daily schedule that I could live without doing in order to add more prayer and meditation time with God. After all, God is my provider and he knows my every need. I decided to rearrange my schedule and that's when the Holy Spirit began to minister to me in the spirit and my life felt so complete. All I could think about is God's goodness each day!

Before my day started, I set out time with God and shared my thoughts and feelings with him. This can be done as simple as thanking God for another day. By putting God first in your day lets God know that your heart belongs to him at the start of a new blessed day! Seeking quality and devoted time with God shows your loyalty to him and for him to show his strength in you. Become committed to God today!

Others: Family, Friends, Job, etc.

Scripture: A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adversity. (Proverbs 17:17 KJV)

Staying loyal to myself, God and others has been the best steps I could have ever taken in life. I truly could not have been loyal to others until I became loyal to myself first. Life has a way of throwing obstacles in your path to test your faithfulness, but I'm here to tell you to stay strong in your Godly beliefs and God will see you through each of your storms that you will encounter in life. Let me inform you that family, friends, jobs and co-workers will test your loyalty. When you feel like your loyalty is being tested, stand strong and ask God to direct your path.

Take Action: Find a quiet place daily without interruptions or where you will not be disturbing others to schedule an appointment with God in order for you to spend some quality time with him. For example, you may use your quality time to sit in silence, sing, pray, read or study God's word. Wherever your spirit leads your heart to spend time with God take the necessary steps to be obedient. Make sure you keep your appointment with God just like you would any other appointments you make.

Prayer: Our Father in heaven, please help me to be loyal to you and your will and to be trustworthy each day of my life. In the name of Jesus, Amen.

FORGIVENESS

Scripture: And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. (Ephesians 4:32 KJV)

You didn't do anything to me that I didn't allow you to do, so I forgive your actions toward me and I forgive my actions that allowed it to happen to me!

Thanks to all of the hurt, shame and confusion I am stronger, wiser and better because my God was watching over me all the time. God was just waiting for me to be still and cry out unto him and hear him speak to me to let me know that the strongholds of hurt, shame and confusion were not what he had planned for my life.

When I was no longer allowing others to plan my future, happiness and beliefs, I began to pray for the release of the strongholds and the powerful and evil forces of hurt, shame and confusion were released off of my life. Those strongholds no longer had authority over my life! I removed myself from harmful situations and environments and during my quiet time, I continued to pray for those that I allowed to hurt me that they too should turn from their wicked ways, live for and accept Christ as their personal savior.

Take Action: Ask someone to forgive you of your past or present actions today? Pray for those who have harmed you and let God judge them accordingly.

Prayer: Our Father in heaven, please forgive me of my sins. God please help those who have harmed me in an ungodly way.

I pray that they will hear your voice and repent unto you. In the name of Jesus, I pray, Amen.

“Whether I ever told you personally or not, I forgive you and I no longer give you power over my life.” ~Sharon D. Megginson

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Scripture: What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us? (Romans 8:31 KJV)

This is the final chapter of the book and what a powerful view this has been on my past, present and future. Taking the time to put God as the head of your life makes the storms so much easier to ride on, over and through.

I ask God daily to give me the will to overcome my obstacles instead of moving them out of my way! I pray that you take the necessary steps that I did and presently do and stop blaming others for your hurt, shame and confusion. Stop giving them the power over your life. They don't deserve for you to waste anymore time dwelling on their attacks over your life. Pray for them and move on with God's agenda for your life. Get your life back and everything else the enemy has tried to plan against you! Keep your thoughts and actions on Godly things in order for you to grow spiritually, physically and mentally according to God's will. May God bless you and keep you always!

Take Action: Write often in your journal about your spiritual, physical and mental goals and achievements.

Prayer: Our Father in Heaven please enlarge my territories, remove curses, release healing and strengthen my discernment. In the name of Jesus, I pray, Amen.

{NOTES}

Salvation

Romans 10:8-11 KJV: But what saith it? The word is nigh thee, even in thy mouth, and in thy heart: that is, the word of faith, which we preach; That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation. For the scripture saith, Whosoever believeth on him shall not be ashamed.

Baptism

Mark 16:16 KJV: He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned.

Acts 2:38 KJV: Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost.

SALVATION PRAYERS

I want God's everlasting salvation Prayer:

Our Father in heaven I ask you to come in my life to be my personal savior and to do your will. In the name of Jesus, I pray, Amen.

I want to restore God's everlasting salvation Prayer:

Our Father in heaven thank you for saving me and keeping me each day of my life, please continue to show me your will for my life. In the name of Jesus, I pray, Amen.

Repentance Prayer:

Our Father in heaven thank you for your grace and mercy, I repent of my sins. In the name of Jesus, I pray, Amen.

NINE FRUITS OF THE SPIRITS:

Scripture: But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law. (Galatians 5: 22-23 KJV)

Applying these nine spiritual fruits daily will satisfy you spiritually:

Love: Jesus commands us to love each other and pray for those who persecute us.

Joy: Give God the honor, glory and praise in every situation of your life. He will see you through.

Peace: Trust in God to be with you in all your problems. God is our ultimate comfort.

Longsuffering: Wait patiently in prayer for God for he will hear your cry and answer in time.

Gentleness: Be concerned for others and show that you care.

Goodness: Put your love into action. Help those who can't return the favor.

Faith: Be trustworthy and loyal in every part of your life.

Meekness: Be willing to forgive and be calm.

Temperance: Do not do evil for evil. Have self-control.

PRAYERS FOR PROTECTION AND GUIDANCE

The Lord's Prayer Matthew 6:8-13 KJV

Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him. After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.

Psalms 23 KJV

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever. Amen.
